

Ball Python (Python regius)

This python is a small python reaching only 4 feet in length. It has a network of black markings on a tan to coppery-brown background. This python originally came from Western Africa, but as pets they are captive-bred. It can live in excess of 20 years. It hunts primarily rodents and is nocturnal.

Bronson

This ball python was probably let loose by a pet owner who grew tired of taking care of it. It was found by Porterville Animal Control trying to find a place to hide in a street gutter. Bronson isn't very active during the day since he is nocturnal. Back to Meet the Animals
